THEME: GROWTH THROUGH ADVENTURE

After years of global interest rates peaks & currency volatility; changing occupier demand, and subdued macro-economic conditions, we believe that 2025 presents the right time to invest in African real estate. The industry has matured substantially and alongside significant fresh capital (PE, Family, Institutional, and Sovereign) a new cycle is emerging for pro-active and players and platforms who continue to develop and grow and mitigate local and global headwinds.

In this new period, not all will rise with the new tide; as success will be a result of only proactive active asset management as well diverse operational expertise deployed across the sector across by leaders who can secure growth in a market where risk, rewards and those prepared to venture will ultimately win.

Join Africa's only global real estate gathering, the API Summit under the theme, 'Growth through Adventure' as we explore what investors want; and exploring why in a new Trumpian era of realpolitik, proven and resilient players will win.
